GOOD WORD FOR POLICE

CONGRATULATIONS UPON ORDER MAINTAINED LAST WEEK.

Not a Single Case of Pocket Picking Reported-Complimentary Letters Received.

Congratulations continue to be received at police headquarters of the efficient work ione by the police during the encampment last week. It is perhaps the first time in many years that such excellent order was maintained in so large a crowd in any city. The visiting detectives who were brought here by Major Sylvester and Captain Boardman were profuse in their complimentary remarks about the success of the police arrangements. One of the most prominent detectives in the country, Mr. Charles Burr. superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio detective service, says the success was beyond all expectation. Nobody ever heard of so big a gathering before at which there was not a single case of pocket picking recorded.

Mr. Ashley M. Gould, United States district attorney, in a letter to Major Sylves-

The Postmaster's Compliment.

Postmaster Merritt wrote: "The pressure of business incident to the recent encampment of the G. A. R. has deterred me until this time from expressing with emphasis my sincere appreciation of your successful efforts to have the mails of this city received and dispatched on schedule time during the hours of the parade on October 8.

"I attribute the consummation of such perfect service to your consideration in having 6th and 11th streets guarded so faithfully, and to the faithful observance of your orders by the officers and privates who guarded the streets named. "My experience of over twenty years gives me ample opportunity to say that never be-fore has there been a closer observance of the schedule in the receipt and dispatch of mails. I again repeat my appreciation of your successful efforts and hope that the future will see your department and this office working on the same plane." Railway Man's View.

Joseph Crawford, general agent of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company expressed his appreciation of the work of the police in the following:

The evidence for the government was to the effect that Bartin called at Lloyd's place of business yesterday afternoon and de-manded some money, which, he claimed, the latter owed him and refused to leave when told to do so. According to the testimony, Lloyd took Bartin by the shoulders and ejected him from the lunch room, when the latter turned and struck him with a cane Bartin admitted using the cane and said he did so because Lloyd struck him. Judge Kimball decided that Bartin was at fault and imposed fines amounting to $15, with forty-five days in jail as the default.

The Strike. To the Editor of The Evening Star:

At the convention of the first district convention in 1901 a resolution was passed making it "compulsory on the part of any men employed in and around the mines to become members of the United Mine Workers' Association;" and, again, in March, 1902, at the convention held in Shenandoah this resolution was passed: "Members shall suspend operations at collieries where nonunion men fail to join organizations." There is a great and persistent effort to sustain the men who are now and have been for six months on strike, during which time they have kept the mines idle, not only time they have kept the mines idle, not only not working themselves, but preventing those who are willing to work from pursuing their avocations, terrifying their families, in some cases dynamiting their dwellings. The people are suffering for want of one of the necessaries of life, anthracite coal, and the people who suffer are called on to sustain in idleness the men who combine to prevent coal being mined. Are we living under a despotism, the despotism of irresponsible men? They will not work themselves, nor allow others to work. Is th's right? Let us do justice, but there is no justice in submitting to extravagant exactions. On the united Mine Non-Workers?" That describes their attitude for the last six months.
